

The Loyola

GREYHOUND

VOL. 49, NO. 12

DECEMBER 12, 1975

Vacancy amendment defeated second time

The ASLC amendment to the constitution that would have outlined procedures for filling vacancies to student government positions was defeated a second time in a student referendum on Monday, December 8 by a vote of 109 to 72.

The amendment was identical to the legislation defeated by the student body last month in a referendum. Last month's vote however was voided when several students contended that they had been unable to vote because the ASLC had closed the polls one hour earlier than advertised.

The ASLC Administrative Council then voted to rerun the election, this time making sure their advertised poll times were in agreement.

Monday's election saw a heavier turnout than the previous referendum. Many ASLC officials noted that the Radio Club lobbied heavily against the bill, posting signs and encouraging people in the cafeteria to "spend five minutes" to defeat the amendment.

It has now been six weeks since the amendment was first proposed before the Administrative Council and the ASLC still has no official policy concerning the appointment of vacated positions in their office. Ed Beyer, treasurer of the ASLC said that now all appointive power for any elected or non-appointed position will revert to the ASLC president. According to Mr. Beyer, this was the exactly what opponents of the bill feared originally. "There's was too much power in the hands of the Executive Committee," they said." Mr. Beyer points out that now, with no clearly defined policy, until a suitable amendment is approved by the student body, the president of the ASLC will retain appointive power. "Personally, I thought they should have had this referendum in the general elections in the spring. That way you're going to get a lot more people to vote who won't necessarily come to the polls with a negative attitude. Anytime you have a vote for or against something, people who are against are more motivated to vote than those that don't have an opinion or who are for something."

What's Happening in January

5	Monday	Movie: "High Noon", with Gary Cooper and Grace Kelly
6	Tuesday	Movie: "Sherlock Jr." with Buster Keaton and "My Little Chick-a-dee" with W.C. Fields and Mae West
7	Wednesday	Movie: "American In Paris" with Gene Kelly
8	Thursday	Movie: "Magnificent Amberson" with Orson Wells
9	Friday	MIXER
10	Saturday	Movie: "Animal Crackers" with Marx Brothers, also W.C. Fields Feature
11	Sunday	Movie: "True Grit" with John Wayne
12	Monday	Movie: "Hound of Baskervilles" with Basil Rathbone
13	Tuesday	Lecture: TBA
14	Wednesday	Movie: "Angels With Dirty Faces" with James Cagney and Humphrey Bogart
15	Thursday	Basketball: GREYHOUNDS vs. Towson State
16	Friday	Movie: "Road to Rio" with Bob Hope and Bing Crosby and "Abbot and Costello meet Frankenstein"
17	Saturday	Basketball: GREYHOUNDS vs. Randolph-Macon
18	Sunday	Movie: "Psycho"- Alfred Hitchcock
19	Monday	Lecture: TBA
20	Tuesday	Movie: "From Here to Eternity" with Frank Sinatra and Burt Lancaster
21	Wednesday	Lecture: TBA
22	Thursday	Movie: "War of the Gods" with Gene Barry
23	Friday	MIXER
24	Saturday	Basketball: GREYHOUNDS vs. Saint Mary's College
25	Sunday	Movie: "March of the Wooden Soldiers" with Laurel and Hardy, also "The Nutty Professor." with Jerry Lewis
26	Monday	Movie: "Adventures of Robin Hood" with Erroll Flynn
27	Tuesday	Movie: "Walt Disney Night"
28	Wednesday	Movie: "East of Eden" with James Dean
29	Thursday	Comic Book Convention
30	Friday	End Classes

ASLC approves final budget allocations

The ASLC executive committee approved the final budget proposal at their December 4 meeting. The original budget based on 1,500 students, totaled $58,585. The more current figure of day enrollment is 1,650, which means an additional $3,600 in ASLC funds.

The appropriations were made as follows: Unicorn, $750; Political Union, $180; International Students Association, $50; Film Series, $500; Lecture Series, $1000; and Concert Series, $1,000. Total allocations were $3,530.

According to Ed Beyer, ASLC treasurer, no organization can overdraw on their account. "Last year some were overdrawn, and some were not used. If some account does go over, it must be immediately drawn from another account."

The appropriations committee is updating the chartering procedures. The present policy divides organizations into four indistinguishable classes, with a $500 constraint on classes III and IV. The new proposed policy would consist of five classes: publication-media, student social services, co-curricular club, cultural society, and recreational club. General charter requirements are open membership to all ASLC members, provide a service to the students, continual signs of life on campus, and a faculty sponsor.

"This proposal was discussed at the Executive Committee Meeting. It was not passed yet, but we are sending out letters to all club presidents informing them that they have to conform to new requirements and to get them to dig out their constitutions," said Mr. Beyer. Marie Lewandowski and Patrice Myers are helping draw up the new charter procedures. charter procedures.

Campus Notes

CHRISTMAS CONCERTS

The Phoenix Choir will be featured in a Candlelight Christmas Concert, in Kraushaar Auditorium on Sunday, December 14, at 8:00 pm.

On Sunday, December 14, at 4:00 pm., the choir of men and boys of Grace and St. Peter's Church will present a choral Evensong in the Loyola Alumni Memorial Chapel. All are invited to attend this concert of sacred music of the Christmas season which is being sponsored by the office of Campus Ministries.

SANTA GRAMS

After our smashing success with Turkeygrams the Amateur Radio Club is now swinging directly into our newest endeavor, SANTAGRAMS.

These will follow the same format as our Turkeygrams and Halloweengrams, with specially prepared messages which require only that you pick which one you want along with the name, address, and phone number of the person you want to send it to. Remember, these messages are free of charge and can be sent anywhere in the United States.

Also, if you're having any trouble getting into the Christmas spirit, just come to the Radio Club, room U-20 in the basement of the Student Center. We have spirit to share.

MIXER

There will be a freshman class mixer on Friday, January 9, 1976 from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. The featured band will be "Favour". Admission will be 50 cents for Loyola students with a valid ID, $1.50 for students with a college ID, and $2.00 for all others. Anyone under 18 will not be admitted.

MOVIE

MAME starring Lucille Ball will be presented by the ASLC Film Series on Sunday, December 14, at 7:30 and 9:30 pm. Admission is free to all Loyola students with a valid ID and $1.50 for all others.

OPEN HOUSE

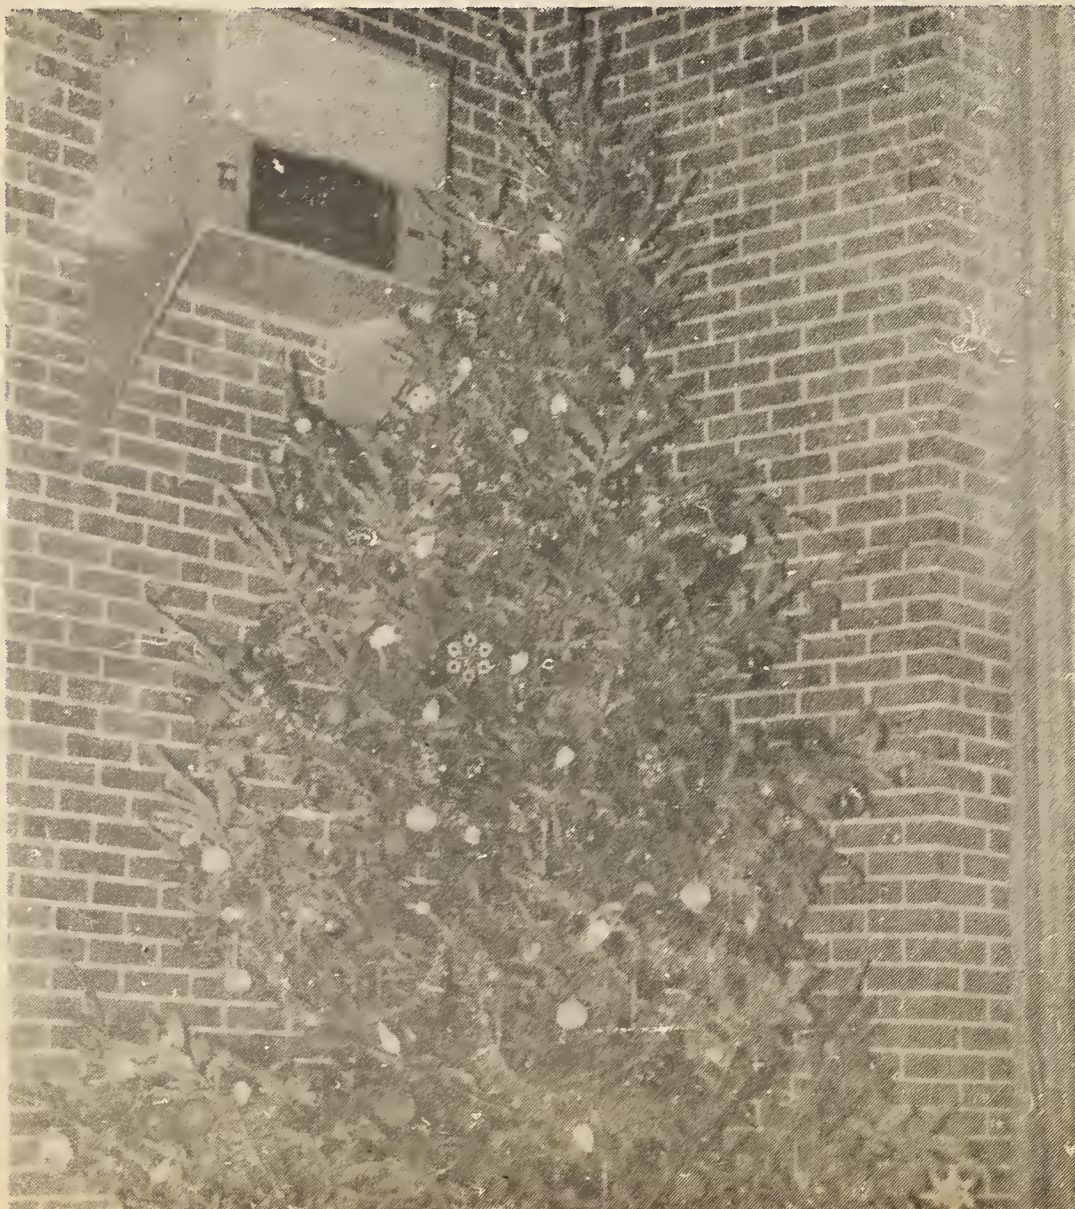

On Monday, December 15 from 12 noon to 5:00 p.m. Campus Ministries invites the Loyola College community to come to their OPEN HOUSE and visit their new offices in the Jesuit Residence.

CHRISTMAS MASS

There will be a Christmas Midnight Mass following carols by the Loyola Student and Faculty Choir which begins at 11:30 p.m. Bring a gift of canned food and leave it at the Crib. The offertory collection and the canned food from this Mass will be donated to the Franciscan Center and the Little Sisters of the Poor.

JOBS

College seniors, graduate students, and veterans are invited by the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan Baltimore to meet with prospective local employers Monday and Tuesday, December 30 and 31, 1975. The program, "Operation Sons and Daughters" will begin at 10:00 a.m. both days and will be held at the Baltimore Civic Center. There will be no charge of any kind to the students attending "Operation Sons and Daughter".

B-ballers chomp Salisbury

By Chris Aland

Senior Morris Cannon awakened from a four game shooting slump to pace the Loyola Greyhounds to an 88-81 victory over visiting Salisbury Tuesday at Evergreen. Cannon canned six of seven shots in the second half as he lead the team in scoring with 28 points.

Salisbury, led by the early hot hand of Bobby Morris, took a quick lead over Coach Tom O'Connor's team. They opened up a four point lead before the Hounds came around to scoring. Then, using a patient offense, Loyola slowly battled back to a 42-42 tie at the intermission.

The close of the first period is when the team seemed to come alive as Paul Eibeler, in for freshman Jack Vogt who started the game, hit Morris Cannon with two thread-the-needle passes which tied the game.

Rebounding was the point which kept Loyola in the game in the first half, with Mark Rohde and Bob Reilly leading the team in the department.

Erupting for a couple quick baskets at the start of the second half, the Hounds mounted a lead that they weren't to relinquish. Freshman Bud Campbell, who dominated the boards for Loyola, paced the Hounds to their early lead before Cannon opened fire. Cannon was backed up by former Loyola High teammate Mark Rohde who had his own scoring fest with 14 second half points.

Loyola was plagued by poor shooting in their first three games, and although it improved, it was still below fifty against Salisbury. This improvement may indicate, however, that Loyola looks to be starting to play some of their better ball.

They are still plagued by weak shooting in the point guard position. Fine passing and key assists are coming off the hands of Eibeler and Vogt, but the two have had the cold hands in shooting, getting only one basket between them in Tuesday's game.

Led by the scoring of Rohde and Cannon, who had 24 and 28 points respectfully on Tuesday, in Loyola frontcourt is doing all the work. Sophomore Bob Reilly, who took a set to Jim Smith at the start of Tuesday's game, is the team's second leading scorer behind Cannon and Rohde and has hit on seventeen consecutive free throws. Last season Reilly set a Loyola team record for free throw accuracy which at this rate looks to be shattered.

Probably the biggest surprise is freshman Bud Campbell, who is averaging just under ten points per game. Campbell has started every game for the Greyhounds this year, and did a job rebounding against Salisbury's All-American hopeful Howard Shockley. Shockley had fourteen points and seventeen rebounds on the night.

At the close of the game, Salisbury made a slight comeback as Jeff Sheets and Dave McEvoy began throwing in shots from 20 feet out. The Seagull cut a ten point lead to four before Loyola upped its margin to seven as Cannon added two free throws after time had expired.

Loyola is on a break now until their Christmas tournament which begins the 29th of December. Lycoming, Frostburg and St. Thomas Aquinas will all compete in the first annual tourney. Frostburg will meet Lycoming in the first round as Loyola takes on St. Thomas. Tickets for the contest will be made available soon and ticket prices are $3, $2 for students with a Loyola I.D.

Senior John Prather, who has been out of action since a freak knee injury will see his first action in the Loyola College Holiday Tournament

photo by randall ward

CODDS 200 minute proposal defeated

The Committee on Day Division Studies (CODDS) rejected the Bell-Jordan 200 minute proposal by a vote of 7-3, at its December 9 meeting.

During the brief debate on required 200 minute per course "contact time", several professors expressed concern that the proposal was pitting faculty members against each other, and that the "scare words", dictation and academic freedom were being used to put those against the proposal on the defensive.

A roll call vote was taken on the issue: Edward Kaltenbach, dean of freshmen, Donald Wolfe, professor of history, and Mark Herwig, student member of CODDS, voted for 200 minutes, while all other members voted against it.

With the issue settled for the present, attention was shifted to a proposal by student member Dennis King outlining restrictions on faculty members using attendance and-or class participation to lower a student's grade.

Mr. King's proposal will be pursued during next semester's CODDS meetings.

Women run record 3-0, defeat St. Mary's

The womans basketball team defeated Saint Marys College 52-42 at Evergreen Tuesday night.

The game got off to a slow start with a total of 8 points being scored in the first 9 minutes of the first half. Both teams played sloppily and the tempo of the game was disrupted by turnovers.

Mary B. Klung came in and sparked the team. Their shots started to connect and they pulled down rebounds. The girls got it together and their play began to flow. At halftime Loyola had 30-12.

After the break, Barbara Kropfelder came out shooting, hitting 6 of her 8 shots. She was aided on offense by Dania Thomson. The women applied relentless pressure on St. Marys. Loyola hustled back on defense preventing fast breaks and other scoring.

After establishing a substantial lead, Mrs. Benedek gave her starters a rest.

The complexion of the game then got spotty. Turnovers over thrown passes plagued both teams.

St. Marys soon cut the lead to 10 points, and Mrs. Benedek put her starters in again. They maintained the lead for the final minutes of the game.

The scoring was lead by Barbara Kropfelder with 22 points, Dania Thomson, 10, Mary Rieman, 7, Cindy C 6, Maureen O'Niell 3, and Mary B. Klung, 2.

This 52-42 victory over St. Mary's give the women a 2-0 records, and hopes of a championship team.

Letters

No apology to women of Ahern

To the Editor:

November 7th an article appeared in the Greyhound referring to the problem of security down in the Ahern apartments. This article was a result of several incidences that took place in conjunction with various others complaints aired by the residents living in Ahern. At that time comments were made regarding the character of the female residents of Ahern among them being that "I don't know what type of girls live there. If it is fast, it gets bothered. I take this into consideration."

At this time I went to Dean Yanchik to protest the fact that a security guard was making character judgements on who had the right to be protected or not protected. I had previously assumed that security responded promptly to all calls that came in without question. I believed they were a payed service provided for the students, all students, regardless of who it is.

I also explained that as a woman of Ahern I felt that a public apology was in order from whoever was responsible for the insinuations that were made. Dean Yanchik said he would look into the matter and get back to me in a few days. When I returned to his office he said he had spoken with Dean Sedivy and security and the Ahern residents could expect a public apology in reference to the incident.

Several issues of the Greyhound have been distributed since that time and as of yet I have seen no mention of the topic to say nothing of an apology.

It is my understanding that December 12th is the final issue this semester and the next issue will not appear until February of next year. Once again the resident students have been deprived of human consideration and common personal respect. The basic rights of students has shown to be of little importance to this small college who's source of pride is that it "cares" about all its students.

Sincerely,
Jane Capria

Thank you

To Loyola College

On this special Thanksgiving Day we pray that the Lord, Giver of Gifts, will ever keep your loving Christian Community one of concern and compassion for all - especially those less fortunate! What a beautiful inspiration holiday we've had.

We could not believe that all those cans, turkeys, fresh foods, and delicacies came from one campus! Your generosity and careful planning made it possible to take care of so many, many of our families! We were able to help out a soup kitchen, that we are interested in on Pratt St. - "Loaves and Fishes".

Be assured of our thankful prayers and sincere blessings.

Peace and Love,

Sisters N. Aurelia and Jeanette.

RSM

St. Peter's Christian Life Center

You will love to go Treasure hunting at

Spanish Village Imports

You'll find a Paradise of Christmas gift ideas from our selection of hand-embroidered dresses, blouses and shirts.

Also, American Indian and Mexican silver jewelry

Dolls, pottery items, and many more

15 West Chesapeake Ave.

Towson (next to Sunny Surplus)

Merry Christmas

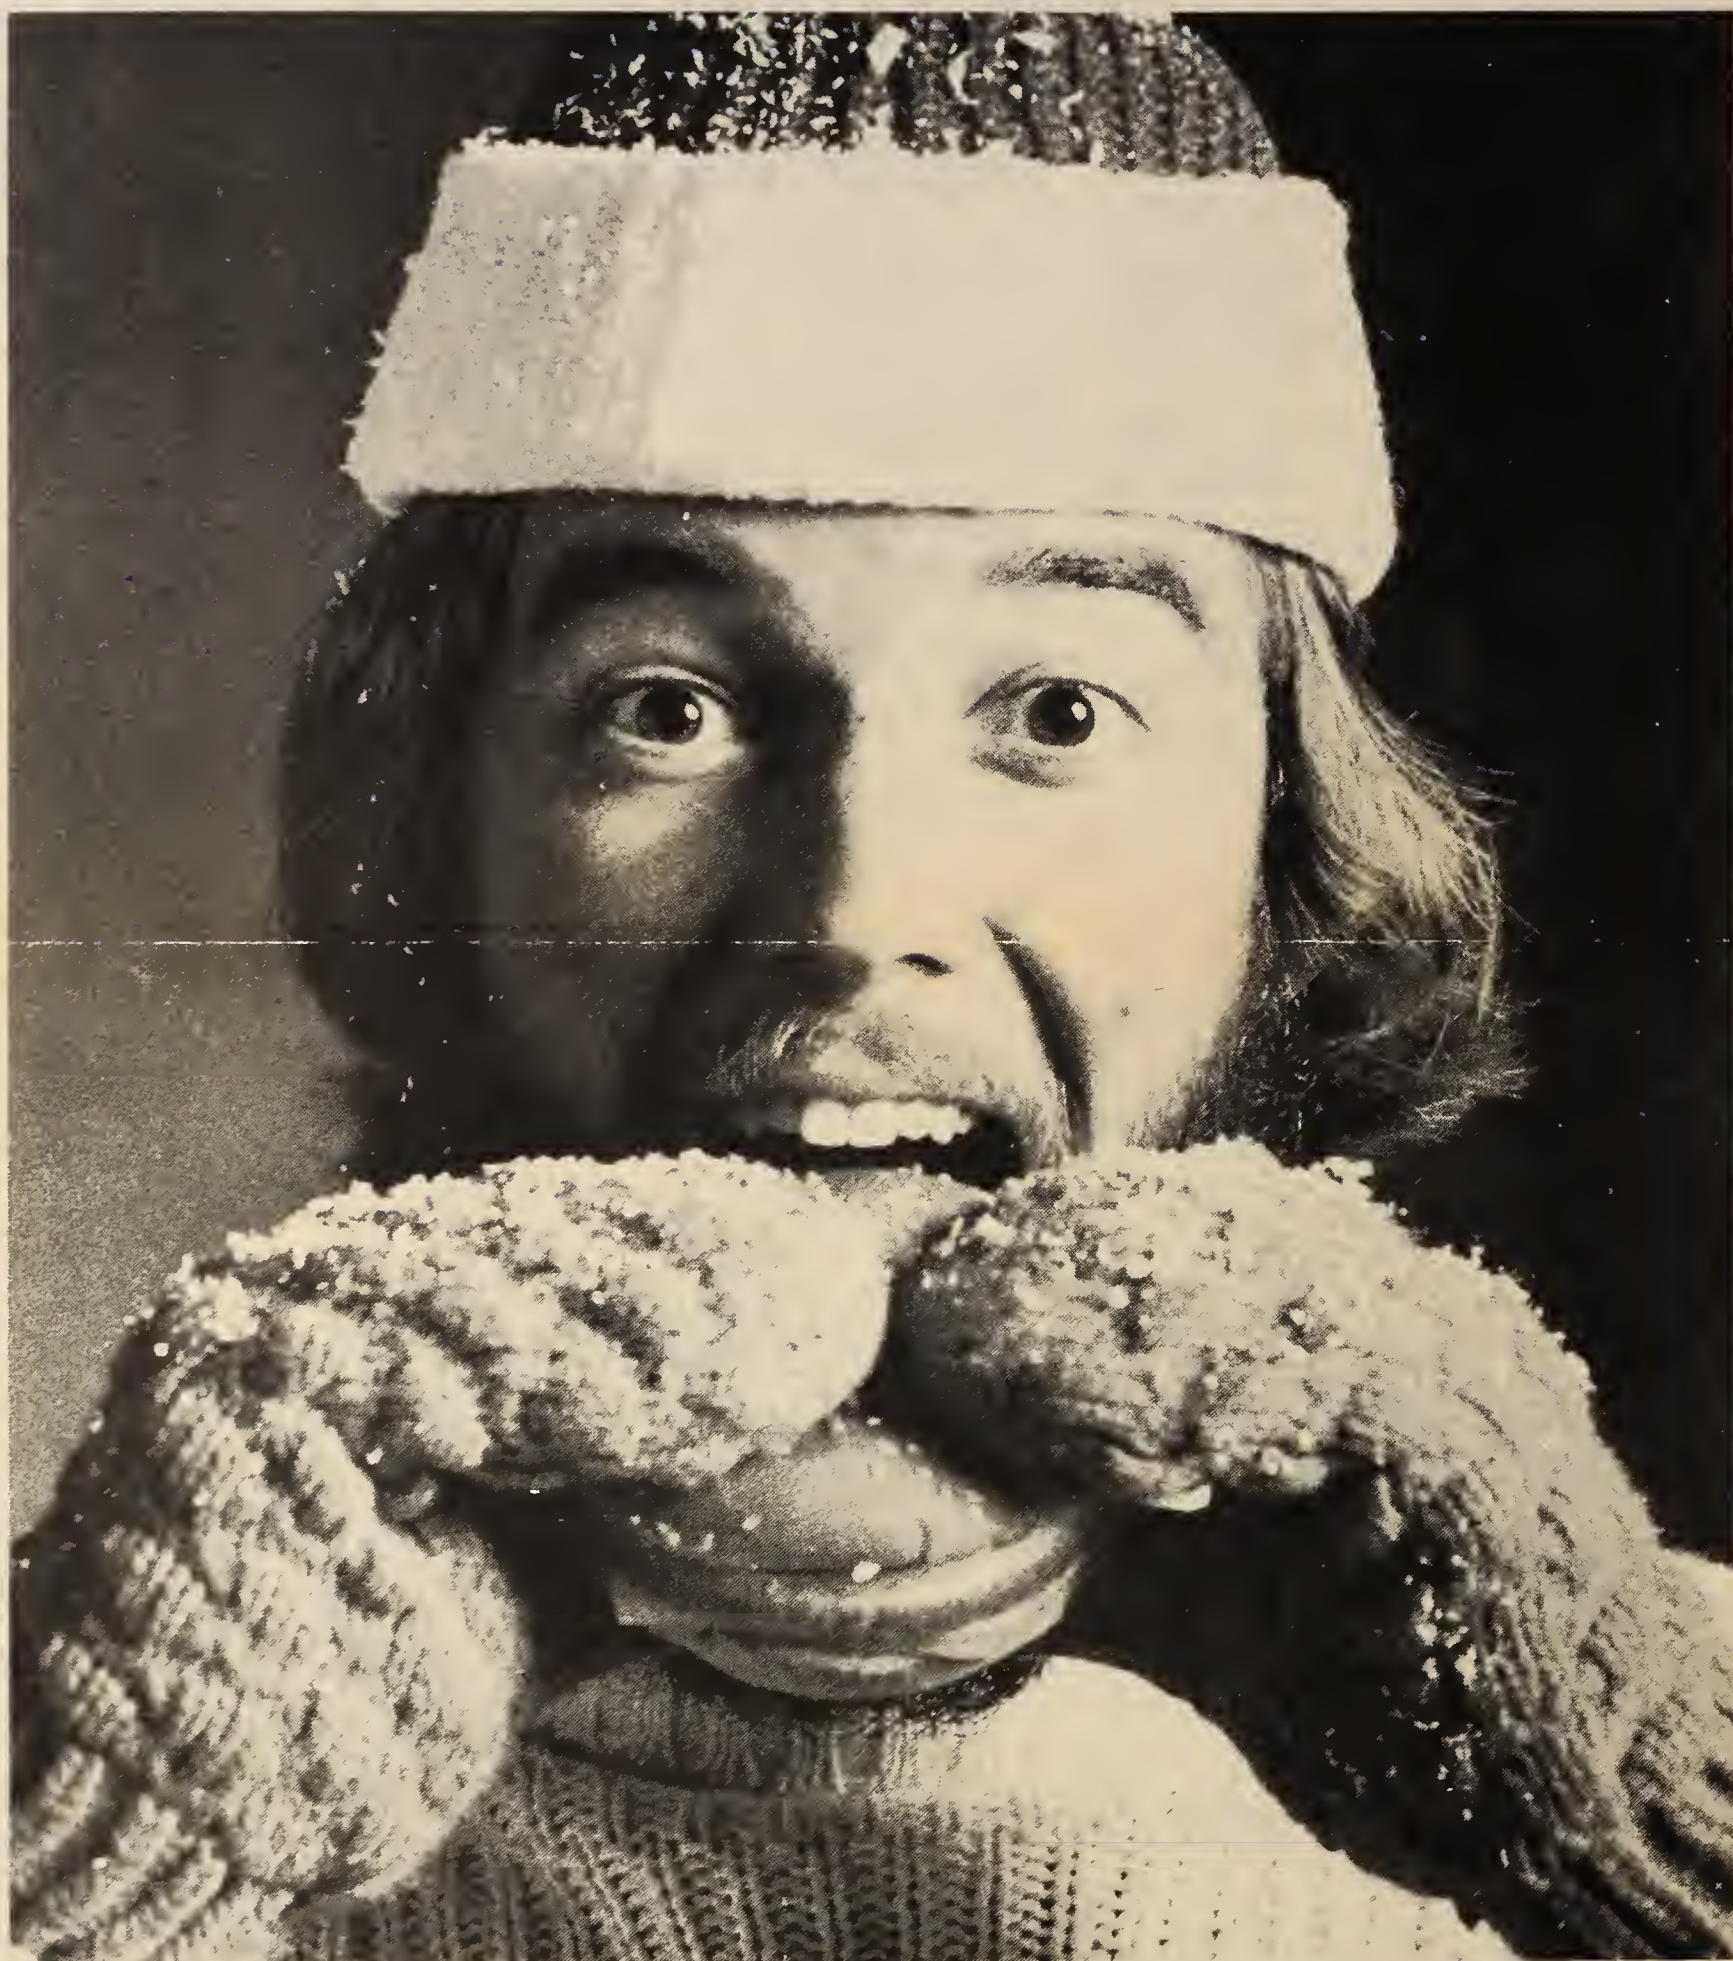

Good Luck on exams!

Editor in chief Marie Lerch
News editors Janine Shertzer, Bob Williams
Features editors Deborah Clarke, Barbara Hilliard
Sports editor Chris Aland

This is the last issue of The Greyhound for Fall 1975. Our next issue will be February 13, 1976.

Cover photo by Joe Hickey

Season's Eatings from McDonald's.®

Before you leave for Christmas vacation,
stop by the newest McDonald's.

5100 York Rd.
Baltimore, Md. 21212

